ON THE MARCH TO SPRINGFIELD, MO., DEC. 1861

Gen. Sterling Price had his headquarters at Springfield, Mo. during the winter of 1861-2, after the Oak Hill battle, and after he had captured Lexington, the writer was in charge of 150 cavalry in Johnson county, and was on the way to Springfield to report to Gen. Price. In passing a farm house on the road, a lady, a Mrs. Hunter, came out to the road and stopped us. She informed us that her husband was a confederate soldier, and was then at home on four-lough, and had been forced to leave home by a body of federal cavalry which had come to the house, and she knew they were then camped only a mile and a half in our front. That they numbered at least 4000, and would capture us if we went on.

Her father came up also, a man about 60 years old, and the question came up as to our best course of action. Mrs. Hunter suggested to me to take my men down the creek out to the right of the road, and being guided by her father we could lie concealed in the thickets 'till the enemy moved.

We did as she suggested after sending scouts to locate the enemy, Lt. Myer and Woodson reported the federals camped as she told us.

We kept our thicket camp over 24 hours, feeding our horses from the old man's cornfield, and Mrs. Hunter, accompanied by 8 young ladies, the most refined ladies in the state, (they being afraid to send negroes) brought us into our camp in baskets and in their arms, on foot, an abundance of provisions already cooked, and fed the whole command for four meals. They came several times with all they could carry of good things to eat. It was very cold and snowed that night, and they offered to bring blankets but we refused to allow them to do that.

I divided my force into squads of 10 men, and we all got into Springfield the following day, only losing one horse in circumventing the enemy.

This is only one instance of the aid and encouragement given by our Southern Missouri ladies to our cause, and to our army.

P. ELDRIDGE.

An episode so real that it might happen in any life is told with humor and pathos by Luellen Cass Teters in Lippincot's for October, under the title "The Waywardness of Susan." and yet the plain folks he deals with would be thought to furnish little material for picturesque fiction.

If baby's health is dear to you, Then let me tell you what to do. Ere pain has racked its tender frame, Just let "Teethina" ease the same. "Teethina" Allays irritation, aids digestion, overcomes and counteracts the effects of summer's heat, regulates the bowels and makes teething easy, and costs only 25 cents.

A good dairy would be a paying investment in Jefferson as there is always a scarcity of good milk and butter, and just now there is a big demand and very little to be had.

A PASTOR'S WIFE CURED OF PELVIC CATARRH

She Suffered for Years and Felt Her Case Was Hopeless—Cured by Pe-ru-na.

MRS. ANNA B. FLEHARTY, recent Superintendent of the W. G. T. U. headquarters, at Galesburg, Ill., was for ten years one of the leading women there. Her husband, when living, was first President of the Nebraska Wesleyan University, at Lincoln, Neb.

In a letter written from 401 Sixty-seventh street, W., Chicago, Ill., Mrs. Fleharty says the following in regard to Peruna:

"Having lived a very active life as wife and working partner of a busy minister, my health failed me a few years ago. I lost my husband about the same time, and gradually I seemed to lose health and spirit. My daughter is a confirmed invalid, and we both felt great need of an invigorator.

"One of my neighbors advised me to try Peruna. A bottle was immediately secured and a great change took place in my daughter's as well as in my own health. Our appetites improved very greatly, the digestion seemed much helped, and restful sleep soon improved us, so that we seemed like new women.

"I would not be without Peruna for ten times its cost."—Mrs. Anna B. Fleharty.

What used to be called female diseases by the medical profession is now called pelvic catarrh. It has been found by experience that catarrhal diseases of the pelvic organs are the cause of most cases of female diseases.

Dr. Hartman was among the first of America's great physicians to make this discovery. For forty years he has been treating diseases peculiar to women, and long ago he reached the conclusion that a woman entirely free from catarrhal affection of these organs would not be subject to female disease. He therefore began using Peruna for these cases and found it so admirably adapted to their permanent cure that Peruna has now become the most famous remedy for female diseases ever known. Everywhere the women are using it and praising it. Peruna is not a palliative simply; it cures by removing the cause of female disease.

Dr. Hartman has probably cured more women of female ailments than any other living physician. He makes these cures simply by using and recommending Peruna.

Mrs. Esther M. Milner, DeGraff, Ohio, writes:

"I was a terrible sufferer from female weakness and had the headache continuously. I was not able to do my housework for myself and husband. I wrote you and described my condition as near as possible. You recommended Peruna. I took four bottles and was completely cured. I think Peruna a wonderful medicine."—Mrs. Esther M. Milner.

Congressman Thad. M. Mahon, of Chambersburg, Pa., writes:

"I take pleasure in commending your Peruna as a substantial tonic and a good catarrh remedy."—T. M. Mahon.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
